New things for this year:

- · We had some very special folks that came and helped us mulching and planting and power wash all the buildings, and paint the barns, gates, wash stands and over all cleaning of the grounds we want to thank them so very much. (they want to be anonymous)
- Exhibit hall has all new pegboard on the wall for displaying members projects
- · Canopy moved between buildings with a rock pad and picnic tables
- New flower boxes that was made by a FFA member w/ help from Farm Credit, flowers provided by Horticulture class.
- Paris Young Farmers donated a Granite bench in memory of Alan Hornbrook.

Thanks to everyone that came out...

Thank you, Farm Credit

4-H Completion Ceremony

BY BRYCE GLADDING gladdingbryce@gmail.com

The 4-H program is a huge part of this community. For many kids, 4-H is where they expand their knowledge of agriculture and livestock, learn more about health and science and how to be a leader.

But the draw for kids to join is the friends they will meet along the way. Whenever a group of kids make it through the program and graduate together, there is a bond that remains every time they see each other after departing 4-H.

The 2023 graduates are Hallie Rhoads,

These 4-H members participate in the completion ceremony at the Edgar County 4-H Fair marking the end of their time in 4-H. Left to right, Hallie Rhoads, Meredithe Morrisey, Bryan Kohlmeyer, Emery Keys and Abigail Mood.

Abigail Mood, Bryan Kohlmeyer, Emery Keys, Meredeth Morissey and Rachel Stone. During the completion ceremony, they stood at the front of the show ring for the audience to witness the passage into a new part of their lives.

They were asked the hard question of what they enjoyed most about their time in the program.

COMPLETION

"I enjoyed every part of it," said Keys, providing the definitive answer.

Mood addressed what it was like being in 4-H and different from the rest of the grad-

"I am not a farm girl, but I really loved my time in 4-H," Mood said.

Morrisey loved looking at all the completed projects while Rhodes said her favorite part was teaching the younger members what 4-H meant.

Although Stone could not attend the event, the announcer informed the crowd she is using her 4-H experience as she studies pre-veterinary science at SIU.

Kohlmyer spoke for all by thanking the parents who had supported them through their 4-H career.

These kids, who are all turning into adults, acknowledged and appreciated how they are taking the lessons learned in 4-H and are applying them to everyday life.

Although they are graduating from 4-H, they will never really leave 4-H. They will always carry a part of the program with them and apply it when taking their college classes, getting their first jobs and starting families. 4-H helps kids prepare for the world and this group is living proof that it works.

Gabe Winans lead his beef into the show ring for bidding at the Edgar County 4-H Fair livestock
